PROGRAM

The legal landscape relating to workplace safety law is constantly evolving and changing. Inspection and enforcement activities are increasing – and are serious matters for your organization. Do you know your rights if an incident occurs and the regulators are asking to interview your employees? Does your organization know how to properly navigate prime contractor responsibilities? Are you aware of recent developments regarding Saskatchewan's OHS sentencing laws? Is your drug and alcohol policy ready for pending changes to Canada's marijuana laws? Join us and we will help you get prepared.

On The Agenda:

- Survey Recent Key OHS Legal Decisions, Including Sentencing Update
- Update on Prime Contractor Law and Best Practices
- Learn about Liability of Supervisors, Directors and Senior Officers, including Bill C-45
- Discuss Statutory Investigations, Privileged Investigations and Witness Interviews
- Get the latest on Drug and Alcohol Testing and Medical Marijuana Policies

SPEAKERS

John Agioritis represents clients on all types of criminal matters and regulatory infractions, including federal and provincial occupational health and safety, environmental legislation and tax legislation. He has helped employers of all sizes – from small, closely held companies to large, publicly traded multinational international entities – navigate their way through occupational health and safety investigations and prosecutions in various industries. John also provides pro-active advice on due diligence measures designed to meet and exceed occupational health and safety obligations. He has appeared before the Saskatchewan Provincial Court, the Saskatchewan Court of Queen's Bench and the Court of Appeal for Saskatchewan.

Michael Tochor, Q.C., has extensive involvement in administrative and public law matters. He has acted on behalf of various provincial licensing and regulatory bodies and for a number of clients appearing before professional and administrative tribunals. A significant part of his practice involves representing clients on investigations and charges under The Saskatchewan Employment Act.

Curtis Unfried has advised and defended clients on a wide range of regulatory fronts, including Occupational Health & Safety / Workplace Safety & Health Acts, the Criminal Code, the Pharmaceutical Act (Manitoba), the Food and Drugs Act (Canada), the Fisheries Act (Canada), the Metal Mining Effluent Regulations (Canada), the Forest Act, the Motor Vehicle Transport Act and The Manitoba Liquor and Lotteries Corporation Act and Liquor and Gaming Control Act. Although his practice is based in Winnipeg, Curtis has acted for clients in Ontario and in Western Canada.

Scott Masson is a corporate and commercial lawyer who focuses in the areas of construction, procurement and real estate. Scott frequently assists clients in a variety of industries with the planning, development, drafting and negotiation of contracts for construction projects and the procurement of goods and services (including professional and design services). He also helps a variety of public sector and private clients with developing purchasing documents including, requests for proposals, requests for quotations, tenders, resulting contract documentation and other procurement documents.

Kevin Wilson, Q.C., has practised almost exclusively in the area of management side labour and employment law since 1989, for both unionized and non-union clients. He provides strategic and legal advice to employers in Saskatchewan. In addition, Kevin regularly appears before the Saskatchewan Labour Relations Board, courts, arbitration boards and other administrative tribunals on behalf of employers. He is the former Chair of the Canadian Bar Association National Labour and Employment Law section.

Meghan McCreary, Q.C., provides strategic, results-based advice and representation to employers. She focuses in the areas of labour relations, workplace human rights, and executive employment. Meghan's expertise is in labour relations disputes and negotiations, including collective agreement bargaining and interpretation, workplace accommodation, workplace drug and alcohol testing, and discipline and discharge matters.

Not all speakers will present in both locations.

This seminar qualifies for 3.5 CPHR CPD hours.
