ON THE AGENDA

The rules for recruiting and using foreign workers in Saskatchewan have changed dramatically. This half-day workshop for employers and HR professionals explores a wide range of corporate immigration issues — from business visitors to the International Mobility Program to Labour Market Impact Assessments to employer compliance.

Strategies for Getting People into Canada

Identify quick and cost effective immigration solutions for your organization

- Commonly used business visitor categories
- Key questions to ask when determining the best way to bring employees into Canada
- The Labour Market Impact Assessment (LMIA) and work permit processes
- How to secure a work permit without going through an LMIA

Temporary Foreign Workers and Employer Compliance

Ensure your business is compliant with federal and provincial immigration rules

- Federal compliance rules for employers of foreign workers
- Provincial compliance rules as they pertain to employers of foreign workers in Saskatchewan
- Tips for proactively meeting compliance rules

Interactive Scenario Workshop

Review and address scenarios that commonly arise for employers in relation to foreign worker use

- Common immigration scenarios employers and human resources professionals may face
- Practical tools for approaching immigration issues
- Interactive questions and answers

This session is pre-approved for 3.5 CPD hours by CPHR.

SPEAKERS

Scott Bell advises employers regarding federal immigration applications including work permits, labour market impact assessments, Free Trade Agreement exemptions and permanent residency. This includes applications made with SINP and other provincial nomination programs. He also advises employers on managing temporary foreign workers and complying with immigration legislation.
